CASE STUDY

"The geographic location of Quadrus is perfect for TF Shipping with easy road access to the region's ports and generally good access to the rest of the North East".

The Business

TF Shipping specialises in shipping cargo from anywhere in the world to your door and from your door to anywhere in the world.

The company has a comprehensive network of overseas agents to ensure your cargo is handled efficiently throughout its transit.

The Background

TF Shipping Ltd was set up in 2006 by Tim Finley who has worked with some of the biggest names in cargo shipment.

The company has grown steadily by adopting a more personal approach and has built up an extensive customer base within a number of both import and export sectors including clothing, furniture and used vehicles amongst many other commodities.

Tim said: "People really appreciate dealing with a smaller company that can build a relationship with the client on the other end of the phone.

"While setting up, I also toured the Far East building up a trusted network of contacts and agents. We now have an agency network that is trusted and can offer our customers the best service."

The Service

The company can arrange the movement of goods to anywhere in the world by air, sea, rail or road.

Tim Finley said: "We handle everything for clients including full supply chain support.

"We also specialise in dealing with first-time shippers. More individuals and small companies are selling on the web and sourcing goods all over the world.

"We can make sure people avoid all the pitfalls and ensure their goods arrive on-time and can assist in the sourcing of goods if required to ensure a quality product is received."

Why Quadrus?

Tim said: "The geographic location of Quadrus is perfect for TF Shipping with easy road access to the region's ports and generally good access to the rest of the North East.

"I've also met an amazing range of new businesses since moving here plus there is a raft of business support on offer to help the company grow."
